MILES CITY --- Ed McCall. 84, well known cowboy and barber, died in his home Thursday from an apparent heart attach.

Funeral services will be 2 p.m. Monday at Stevensons Funeral Home with the Rev. Leslie Payne, Chaplin of the Pine Hills School, officiating.

Interment will be in the Custer County Cemetery, at Miles City, MT.

He was born Aug. 21, 1884, at Copperas Cove, TX.
He was the son of Robert Marshall and Joyce Ann Lew-is McCall.

He spent his early life as a cowboy and ranch hand in Texas before coming to Forsyth, MT., in 1913.

In 1914 he moved to Miles City, MT., where he operated and owned a barber- beauty shop.
He learned the barber business by cutting the hair of his cowboy friends while on the rodeo.

He continued to rope in rodeos in the area and followed the circuit for six years.

He was a well known western figure and had been mentioned in a book "65 Years in the Cow Business" and also in the December, 1966 issue of Westerns Horseman in the article, "Cowboy Barber."

He was a charter member of Miles City Range-Riders Organization and a life member of Elks and the Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are the widow, Martha, of Miles City, four sisters, Mrs. Ellie Fields, Mrs. Anna Belle Mills and Mrs. Katy Powell, all of Austin, TX.; and Mrs. Dora Duncum of La Marque, TX.; one brother, John D. McCall of Beaumont, TX.
