

Hawkins — Kirouac la bride

Alice T. Kirouac, daughter of Mrs. Albert Kirouac of 37 Greenwood St. became the bride of William R. Hawkins of 3 Jackson Park West, Saturday, Sept. 24 at Holy Rosary Church. The Rev. Joseph Sirois performed the 9 a.m. ceremony, assisted by Rev. Raymond Anger. Lector was Richard Bachand, nephew of the bride, of New Bedford.

The bride, escorted by her brother, Emile A. Kirouac of Worcester, wore a floor length gown of silesia knit designed with high neckline, long traditional sleeves, Venice lace accenting the bodice, sleeves and chapel length train. The fingertip veil was attached to a camelot style headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white sweethearts, baby's breath and eucalyptus.

Laurette Pelletier, sister of the bride, of Gardner served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Jeanita Kirouac, sister-in-law of the bride, of Worcester, Gloria Kirouac, sister-in-law of the bride, of Gardner and Nancy Hawkins, daughter-in-law of the bridegroom, of Gardner. Marlie Rouleau of Westminster was flower girl.

The matron of honor wore a pale aqua gown of chiffon, empire waist with trimmed crystal beads. The bridesmaids, in cranberry, light blue and light yellow, wore silesia knit gowns with beaded bodices and velvet jackets to match. The matron of honor carried a colonial bouquet with aqua miniature carnations and baby's breath. The bridesmaids each carried a colonial bouquet of yellow, blue and pink carnations with baby's breath. The flower girl carried a wicker basket with pink elegance miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Paul Hawkins, son of the bridegroom, of Gardner, served as best man. Ushers were Michael Kirouac and Rodney Kirouac, nephews of the bride, both of Worcester and Russell Pelletier, brother-in-law of the bride, of Gardner. Ryan Rouleau of Westminster was ring bearer.

A reception followed at William's Restaurant where Robbie Hawkins, grandson of the bridegroom, of Gardner and Collette Bachand, niece of the bride, of New Bedford, circulated the guest book.

Since their return from a wedding trip through New Hampshire, the newlyweds are residing at 3 Jackson Park West.

Mrs. Hawkins attended Holy Rosary School and is a graduate of Gardner High School. She is employed at J.A. LeBlanc Clothing Store as a sales clerk. Her husband is a graduate of Fitchburg High School and Saxton Trade in Leominster. He is employed at Gem Industries. (Photo by Kruger)
