She is Gone

I am standing on the sea shore.
A ship spreads her white sails
to the morning breeze and starts for the ocean.

She is an object of beauty and I stand watching her till at last she fades on
the horizon,
and someone at my side says,
"She is gone."

Gone where?
Gone from my sight, that is all.
The loss of sight is in me,
not in her;
and just at the moment
when someone says,
"She is gone,"
there are others who are watching
her coming.
Other voices take up
the glad shout,
"There she comes,"
and that is dying.
